Some Rather Surprising Things

You Will Be Surprised

to learn that a man worth $50,000,000 drives a stage-coach out of New York every day, and tries hard to make the enterprise pay. Still more surprised, perhaps, when you learn that the young man in question is none other than Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt. Of course this fabulously wealthy young Croesus only does this as a fad.

You Will Be Surprised

to learn more of the wonderful new LIGHT-RAY cure which is now conquering the most malignant diseases. You may have read something about it last week, but not one-tenth of the marvellous properties of this great scientific triumph has been or can be told. You may, however, derive incalculable benefit from reading more about it.

You Will Be Surprised

as well as shocked to read the true narrative of a fellow prisoner of the unhappy French army captain, DREYFUS, on DEVIL'S ISLAND. The world shuddered when the horrors of that prison in the sea were told during the Dreyfus investigation, but the whole story of the suffering imposed upon prisoners there is now published for the first time. This is the story of a Frenchman, imprisoned on Devil's Island for a crime of which he was innocent, and his recital of the horrors of his incarceration will thrill every reader.

You Will Be Surprised

to read of the great luxury, like that of a feudal baron, in which New York's late political boss, RICHARD CROKER, is living at Wantage, England, as LORD OF THE MANOR. He has purchased an old English title and is enjoying its benefits to the fullest extent. His estates are great, and he is a LORD in every sense of the word. A most interesting story comes to New York, which you will enjoy. Also some fine new photographs.

You Will Be Surprised

to learn of some remarkable new methods for removing tan, freckles and other blemishes of the summer girl. And if you're a summer girl yourself, or intend being one as soon as the weather permits, you will thank the writer of a forthcoming article who tells you how to preserve the complexion from all the sunburn, etc., that is likely to afflict you in the torrid months. Summer girls are not prone to accept advice, but they should take this bit: WAIT for the article in question—it is by HARRIETHUBBARD AYER—and paste it in your scrap-book.

You Will Be Surprised

to see how New York looks from the top of the spires of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Steeplejacks have been cleaning these great needles, and have permitted photograph-taking by a daring knight of the camera. Some strange effects.

You Will Be Surprised

at all the wonderful wonders in the wonderful Wonder Supplement of next Sunday's World. The Wonder Peep Show is a great novelty, and the Wonder Paint Box and Wonder Puzzle, with the usual 150 prizes to boys and girls, will interest you among thousands of others.

These foregoing remarks are merely to serve as a hint of still greater surprises that await you when you receive your copy of Next Sunday's World.

WARRANT SERVED AFTER 18 MONTHS.

Deputy Sheriffs Had to Watch Long Time to Arrest Charles C. Smith in Hemmingway's Suit.

Charles C. Smith, lamp manufacturer, with office in Manhattan, was arrested this morning in a suit for $12,000 brought by Albert F. Hemmingway, for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections. The warrant for Smith's arrest is about eighteen months old, but the Deputy Sheriffs were unable to serve it until today when Mr. Smith was caught by Deputy Sheriff Engle as he stepped from his residence at No. 41 Halsey street, Brooklyn. Hemmingway charges that Smith, knowing Mrs. Hemmingway to be married, deliberately set himself to win her affections while they were both at the Vendome Hotel, Astor Park, in the summer of 1900. He was successful, according to Hemmingway, and the following summer Mrs. Hemmingway returned to the hotel, where she was again seen with Smith much of the time. At the end of that season Hemmingway began a suit for divorce. He obtained a decree in 1901 and then began the suit against Smith for the $12,000. He could not serve on Smith and therefore obtained the order of arrest, which was today served, after the long delay. Smith was taken to the office of Sheriff Tracy, where he was held to answer tomorrow.

TWICE SAVED FROM SUICIDE.
